PUBLICATION

This is your yearbook. It is a record of treasured memories. It is a priceless keepsake that cannot be replaced. It will last a lifetime if treated with care. Handle it as you would any other new book. Open it first down the center and press gently with the palm of your hands. Then begin to open it to other places following the same procedure, until you have opened every page, from cover to cover. This will avoid undue strain on the binding.

Do not store your book close to extreme heat, such as a radiator or heat duct. Do not leave it lying in the hot sun; it is fresh off the press and must have time to cure thoroughly before it is handled too much. Avoid getting it wet. Paper will soak up water.

Any abuse will damage your book. Careful observance of these instructions will help to make your book a lasting record of happy memories. Good luck!

THANK YOU . . . U. HIGH

Thank you, U. High, for the last ten years, in which more than 447 students have left your doors to go their varying ways, well prepared to meet the challenges facing them in our fast-moving society--well prepared because here they received the best education a student could receive. Since 1951, you have added seven subjects, nine teachers, and 1,500,000 dollars of additional construction; today you stand as one of the finest high schools in Illinois. It is to you, U. High, on your tenth "birthday" that we dedicate the 1961 Tower; and, from all of your students, past and present, we extend a sincere, Thank You.

A World Of Study

*Laura - It has been a pleasure having you in class.
Dwaine Smith*

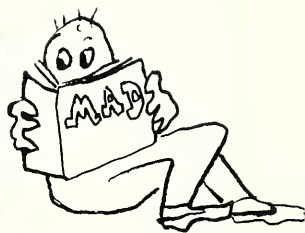

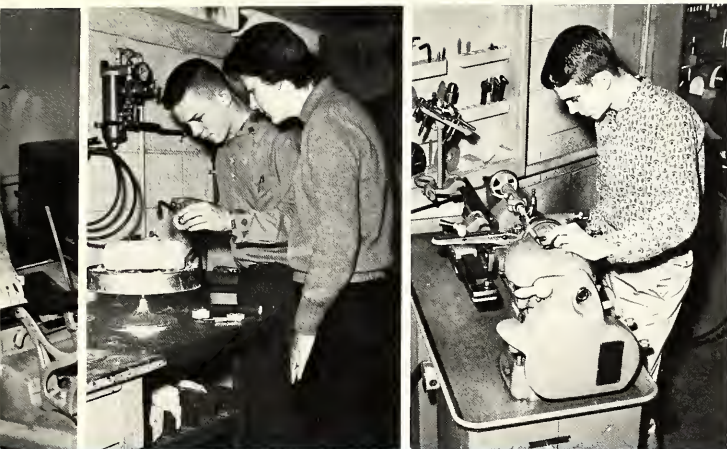

Essential to all our endeavors and basic to all our efforts, study plays a most vital role in our learning. It is through study that we gain an understanding of ourselves, our fellows, and the world in which we live. It is through study, too, that we are prepared to step into our various roles in society. And to these tasks we are unitedly dedicated, students and teachers alike, that we, understanding and prepared, may leave these walls and go forth to our various accomplishments.

A VARIETY OF FACILITIES

An experienced faculty, broad curriculum, and fine facilities--these, together with a friendly, genial atmosphere, make University High a truly stimulating and well equipped institution of learning. Through high standards, set up by the administration, a well-rounded program is offered, ranging from the fine arts of music and art to the more traditional history and algebra. Facilities ities include a radio-communications set up, a well equipped shop with over 20 power tools alone, a swimming pool, spacious, modern classrooms, and provisions for printing, ceramics, and photography developing and processing. These, then, compose the scholastic environment of our world of learning and form the very axis on which it revolves.

A World Of Classes

People, too, are an important phase of our "World of Learning." Through association with others we gain impressions, both good and bad, which will affect in molding the adults we are to become. University High, with a total enrollment of 380, offers an excellent opportunity for each student to know his classmates well and to develop, through close associations, a well-rounded, friendly personality, thus to be at ease with others in future situations he may encounter.

SENIORS

"Parting is such sweet sorrow." So goes the old saying, but the 1961 U. High Seniors have little time for sorrow as we face new experiences in colleges or jobs. Four years ago, as adolescents, we entered U. High, a new world of work and play. Today, as mature individuals, we leave U. High to enter another new world, an adult world. Though there will be little time for sorrow, in the future that lies ahead, there will be ample time for memories of our past, successful years--warm, wonderful memories of fun-filled days of living and learning, memories that will march on forever in our minds, though the years must come to a close.

JUNIORS

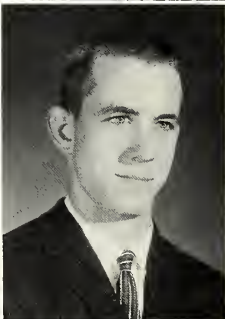

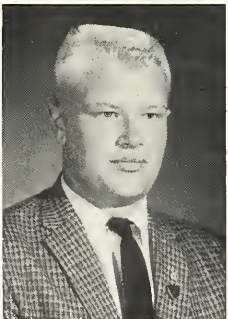

We, alone, enjoy that enviable status of the upperclassman with yet another year ahead. Our activities, more elaborate, and our courses, more difficult, keep our minds and our hours filled with prom plans, amendments, formulas, and themes, as we live through today's and pass on to tomorrow's. And in the rare time, our spare time, we look briefly back but eagerly forward to the next and final year ahead.

Don't those freshmen seem young? Yes, we are sophomores, now. Though we entered it not so long ago, our year of experiences has had its effects. We are beginning to see clearly, perhaps for the first time, the values of a sound education. Through the hard work of classes, through laughter, through fun, through long nights of homework, we go and we grow, intellectually and socially, until we leave this second stage of our high school life, ready for all that which has yet to come.

FRESHMEN

That freshman year--perhaps the craziest, most exciting, and most eventful of all Everything is so new; no one knows just what will happen next. Though the sophomores may eye us knowingly; the juniors, reproachfully; and the seniors, haughtily; we bet that they feel a little envy, as well, when they remember --as will we--that wonderful freshman year.

A World of Activities

Activities, too, are an indispensable part of our "World of Learning." Homecoming, the social highlight of the year, the Christmas Dance, and the Sno-Ball gave us an opportunity to see ourselves and others in a formal atmosphere. The many "after-game" dances, the contests, the plays, the elections, and the host of other school functions kept our year's social calendar filled with fun and festivity. And, through all these, we experience still another important aspect of the adult status we are striving to attain.

round the field at halftime, but, as the last attendant passed before the crowd, the rain started, and the last half of the game was played in a steady drizzle. Ducking under umbrellas and raincoats, the Homecoming couples made the short jaunt to the gym, where Glenn Daum's band and gay "Carousel" decorations gave the 1960-61 Homecoming a memorable ending.

Working "behind the scenes" to make this year's play a success were Jim Hunt, Suzanne Redington, Jim Rush, Hal Stoelzle, Madeline Harris, Sandy Carter, Marilyn Cutler, Bobbie Roan, Jane Adams, Nedra Clay, and Phyllis Ury.

"A sobering experience!" This was the general reaction of all those who saw this year's all school play. Written by George Kelly, Craig's Wife was a revealing study of a selfish and jealous woman who valued her beautiful home above all other things, even her own husband. She finally and tragically came to realize the true value of human feelings and the fatal destructiveness of materialism. The play, directed by Cosmo Inserra, played in Furr Auditorium for three evenings.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

The Christmas Dance, held on the Saturday before vacation, was a whopping success in 1960, and everything turned out perfectly--including the weather. The gym, decorated by the cheerleaders, was complete with Christmas tree, table decorations, and, later in the evening, Santa. The record player spun the music and the couples had refreshments (punch and cookies) and danced --most of them doing the continental. At ten the little old man himself came by and listened to Christmas lists. The evening came to a close at 11, and as the chairs were carried out, a brave few were still dancing the continental to the tune of "New Orleans."

AFTER GAME DANCES

Several dances were sponsored by different groups during the year, and each was unique in some respect. The Senior Heart Hop, sponsored by the seniors, had a valentine theme and followed the Gorham basketball game. The cheerleaders organized the Soc-Hop, also an after-game dance, and a prize was awarded to the couple with the most clever pair of socks.

Besides these informal dances, the Key Club sponsored a formal dance in April, and the GAA and FHA girls put on the annual Twirp Dance, based on a Sadie Hawkins theme, to which the girls invited the fellows.

"A Winter Wonderland" was the theme that set off the 1960 Sno-Ball as one of the year's most exciting dances. Decorated with white balloons simulating real snowballs, the Elks Club basement ballroom held real magic for the annual Teen-Town sponsored event. At the stroke of 11:00, after dancing to such popular tunes as "Chestnuts Roasting on an Open Fire," Carbon-dale young people and their dates crowded around the dance floor to watch the coronation of the Sno-Ball Queen, Sue Drake from Community. Then Miss Drake danced the traditional Queen's Dance with Mr. Paul Huffman, who had just placed the crown on her head. Attending the Queen were Barb Dalton, Nancy Pearce, Suzanne Swanson, Janie Talley, and Sharon Danby, all of U. High, as well as five girls from C.C.H.S.

ELECTION

Representing the Democratic candidates were Larry Crocker (left), as Vice President, and Brad Benziger, as President.

Both parties held pep rallies.

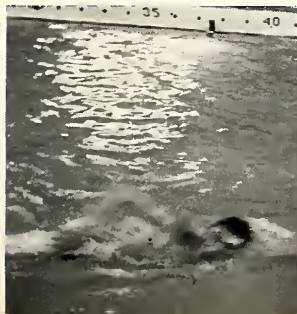

The Republican candidates were Charley Rahe (left), running as President, and John Crenshaw, running as Vice President.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Many other activities occur each day at U. High in which the students may expend any extra energy they may have. The swimming pool is open to students in their P. E. classes, after school during swim club, or at Rec-swim on Wednesday nights. In addition, a swimming club is formed each spring.

The many assemblies held throughout the year consist of such as plays and skits, talent shows, pep rallies, installation of officers and open student council meetings, style shows, annual presentation of scholastic awards, etc.

Students also enjoy dancing in the Rec Room, during the lunch hour, browsing in the library, or just walking around the lawn and talking to friends.

Jr. Varsity cheerleaders, Sharon Danby (left), Janie Tally, Mary Jean Fitzpatrick, and Joan Hunsaker cheered the Lynx cubs.

"Yea team, fight!" shouted the cheerleaders from the bleachers. But their cheer leading was only a small part of their many activities. The five Varsity and four Jr. Varsity cheerleaders worked together to plan several pep assemblies, and this year they had such novel ideas as beatnik skits and action slides of the basketball games. They prepared refreshments and planned entertainment for the Soc-Hop, an after-game dance, and, during the course of the year, they met two or three afternoons a week to practice cheers and plan their activities. The "job" of cheerleading demands much time and effort, but the work is appreciated by both team and fans alike.

A World of Athletics

Both in practice and in the contests themselves, U. High's athletic teams displayed sportsmanship and the evidences of fine coaching. Through these organized programs, the boys gained poise and self understanding. But the benefits of athletics are not limited by these bounds, for, be we participator or spectator, we all can learn much through a close association with sports.

BASKETBALL

The conference winning Lynxes smashed two records this season, as they posted an overall 15-8 record. The first record was broken when the team beat Cobden 105-68, scoring the most points of any team in the school's history. The second was the sound 57-47 victory over Trico, which made U. High the Southern Six Conference Champions for the first time ever. The Lynxes played a tough schedule this year against strong competition. They were eliminated in the first round of the State Tournament by Marion. The three seniors on this year's squad, Amos Black, Ron Brumley, and John Kelley, will be sorely missed next year, as they contributed much to the success of the team through their fine play and sportsmanship.

FOOTBALL

Coach Bencini gives the Lynxes a last minute briefing.

Barrett Holder cuts around right end.

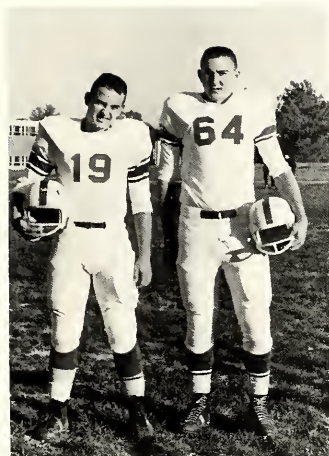

Forty two football prospects greeted coaches E. L. (Doc) Bencini and John Stotlar as the first practices began. Among these were 12 lettermen returning from last year's squad. The season started off well, as the Lynxes won their first two games by beating Elkville and Carterville. Then they suffered their only loss of the season, to Nashville, by a score of 7-0. The Lynxes went on to win their last three games, thus compiling a season record of five wins and one loss. The Lynxes were handicapped at different times during the season due to the injuries of Brad Benziger, Ron Brumley, Dave Matheny, and Bill Pugh.

Said coach "Doc" Bencini of this team's campaign, "The boys this year had a great desire and the willingness to pay the premiums--strenuous physical effort, self denial of luxuries and leisure, and subordination of self interests for the good of the team. As a result, the past football season was one of the most rewarding and successful of my coaching career."

A rival ballcarrier succumbs to the Lynx gridders.

The co-captains this year were Barrett Holder (left), and Ron Brumley.

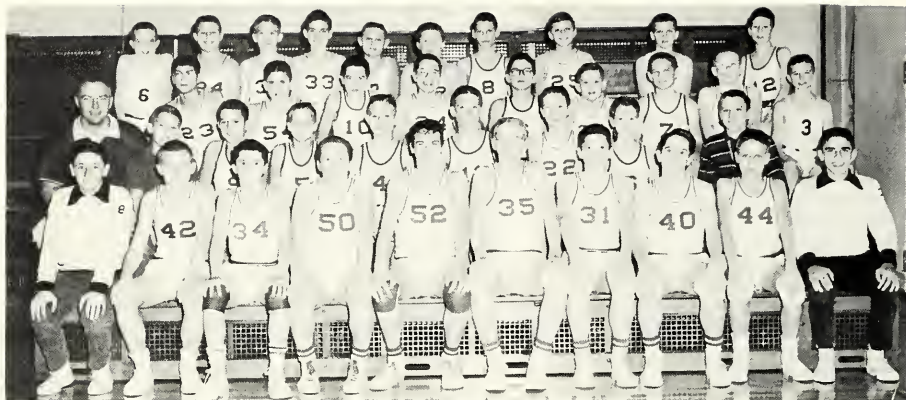

Doing an outstanding job in guiding the team to its 5-1 record was Jim Lazenby (left), John Stotlar, and head coach E. L. "Doc" Bencini.

JR. HIGH BASKETBALL

The Junior High cagers, coached by John Stotlar, started this year with a 20-17 setback to Vergennes, which was their only loss of the season.

After the eighth graders' history making perfect season of last year, this season the seventh grade squad followed suit with a record of 16-0.

Leading the spectators in cheers of "Go, U-High, you've got the spirit," the Junior High cheerleaders helped spur their team to the many victories of the season.

A World of Spring

Compared to the school year as a whole, the months and weeks that comprise spring are often the most crucial and the most exultant. Spring means a time of decisions, of gaiety, and of ends and beginnings. While it holds those dreaded final exams, it also has its lighter side with sports, trips and the gala Prom. Most of all, spring carries with it blessed relief--for the exhausted juniors, for the hopeful graduates, and for all who can exclaim that they "made it!"

1961 JUNIOR-SENIOR

The juniors' job is well rewarded as Queen Ellen Bricker assumes her reign, accompanied by Jan Elder (left), Kathy DeWeese, Jr. Class President, Brad Benziger, Nancy Pearce, and Ann Phelps.

Miss Ellen Bricker, Prom Queen.

AN EVENING OF

PROM

After months of frantic preparation, the careworn class of '62 endowed the seniors with one of the finest proms the school has known. The "Evening at Versailles" began as couples filled Engel's for the banquet, topped off by Dr. Brackett's address. Then a magnificently decorated gym, resplendant in purple and white, greeted Prom-goers arriving for the real highlight of the evening. Spectacular touches like a brilliant chandelier helped create a royal atmosphere for the dance, which was climaxed by the crowning of the 1961 Prom Queen, Ellen Bricker. Civic Club-sponsored activities continued the evening. Carbondale's three high schools merged proms as they attended a movie and danced till dawn at Lentz Hall, ending a memorable event.

LAST...GRADUATION

After a year of hard work and great fun, graduation time is here again. The seniors look back at their last four years fondly yet sadly because it is over.

This year's program was highlighted by the presence of Dr. D. R. Crocker, Dr. Arthur Lane, and Dr. Charles Blinderman.

BASEBALL

Although badly hampered by weather and poor practice conditions, U. High's diamond men managed a fairly even season this spring. They came out with a record of 4 wins and 5 losses, two of which were to Gorham, a sectional finalist. Sorely missed in next year's starting lineup will be the six seniors who played in the '61 season--especially the pitching of Senior Ron Brumley.

TRACK

George Martin, John Kelley, and the Senior relay team led the U. High Cindermen to their most successful season in school history. All time records fell as Martin heaved the discus 147 feet, Kelley ran the hundred in 10.4 seconds, and the baton passers pushed their way to a new record of 1:35.4 minutes. This spring's schedule included track meets with CCHS, Anna, Murphysboro, West Frankfort, Christopher, The Carbondale relays, the Carbondale district meet, and a frosh-soph meet at Pinkneyville.

And So to Another World...

For the seniors, the world of U. High has come to an abrupt end. Yet soon they will enter another and even richer phase of learning--the awesome and exciting world of the future, mysterious but filled with potential so boundless that it should be awaited with breathless anticipation.

A World of Organizations

Meeting after school on Tuesdays, U. High's organizations offer a great variety of activity. These organizations illustrate well the benefits of the fine facilities and capable supervision our "World of Learning" has to offer. For, through the efforts of the administration and the faculty sponsors, who make such activity possible, we receive a better balanced education and a much needed change of pace, as well as learn to get along with our fellows and work together in a group.

As representatives of the student body, the members of the Student Council form the governing organization of University School. The Council this year has included in its list of accomplishments the opening of its meetings to the entire student body. These meetings render the students more aware of the problems and decisions being discussed by their Student Council. Student Body President, George Brackett, presided over the meetings and, under his able leadership, the Council continued its record of outstanding service. Their newly instituted suggestion box was highly successful, and many of the suggestions were discussed and acted upon. Council members participated actively in the Tri Hi Council and made Homecoming, Freshman Initiation, and the Last Fling Dance a success. Elected officers this year were: George Brackett, President; Betty Borger, Vice President; Jan Elder, Secretary; Ann Phelps, Treasurer.

JR. STUDENT COUNCIL

The Jr. High Student Council has many of the same duties as the Sr. Council. From their meetings they gain experience in solving problems and learn more about their school and the way in which it is run.

TOWER

Assistant Editor, Barb Harris, and Editor, Charley Rahe, glance over some pictures for the 1960-61 Tower.

Yearbooks can be fascinating keepsakes. An old yearbook discovered in a musty attic brings back many happy memories --- and a few heartaches. Besides putting together a book of activities and events, this year's staff have tried to include in the 1960-61 Tower that intangible something that makes the students and faculty real members of the organization where they work and learn and grow together.

Charley Rahe and Barb Harris wish to acknowledge their staff and the invaluable aid they received from Miss Paula Parks, the faculty advisor of the 1960-61 Tower.

F.H.A. and G.A.A. are two of the largest organizations in University High. Many girls belong to both groups because they offer such different types of recreation. Besides their many separate activities, they combine to give the F.H.A.--G.A.A. Dance in late February, which has always been one of the highlights of the school year. F.H.A. has many school and community projects, including their Operation Christmas Angel and the annual March of Dimes drive in January. G.A.A. activities include several play-days with girls from other schools and the much anticipated annual camp-out in May.

MIXED CHORUS

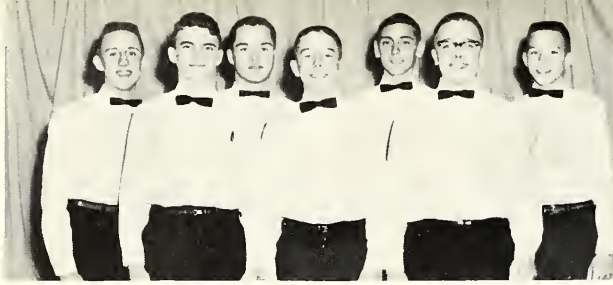

Christmas and Contest are two "C's" that mean hard work for U. High's Mixed Chorus. Directed by Dr. Charles Taylor, this year's Mixed Chorus is the largest organization in school and the largest chorus in the history of U. High, with a membership of 90 students. The annual Christmas Program was held in Shryock Auditorium and depicted the birth of Christ through songs and tableau scenes of the Nativity. It was broadcast live over WSIU. Contest was held in the spring and included all of the music groups. The ensembles met at a district contest in Fairfield, Illinois, in addition to the State contest at Southern Illinois University where the Mixed Chorus and Glee Club competed. Another spring activity for chorus members was the Spring Sing which was held in April.

MADRIGALS

The Madrigals, chosen from the school chorus on the merit of their music ability, are perhaps the busiest of all music groups. Over the years they have gained a reputation for the quality of their performances, and they are frequently invited to sing for meetings and banquets both on the SIU campus and in the community.

ENSEMBLES

Singing in small groups, called Ensembles, was a favorite part of music participation for some members of the Mixed Chorus.

All Ensembles were chosen by Dr. Taylor from students who tried out for the parts. Besides entering a District Contest, the Ensembles, like the larger music groups in U-High, participated in the State Contest, and it was toward the contest that they worked for the better part of the year.

The members of the Mixed Quartet were Charley Rahe (left), Judy Rushing, Kathy DeWeese, and Tharon O'Dell.

The Freshman Girls' Sextet members were Kathy Gumm, Susan McClary, Nanette Seymour, Jeri Olsson, Cynthia Lean, and Sigrid Tessel. Their accompanist was Susan Farris.

GLEE CLUBS

Besides Mixed Chorus, U. High also has both a Boys and Girls Glee Club in which students sing music arranged especially for mens and womens voices. The Glee Clubs are made up of students from the Mixed Chorus and all members are required to attend the weekly rehearsals. During 1960-61, the Glee Clubs participated in State Contest and took part in presenting the Christmas Program and the Spring Sing.

SEXTET

The Girls Sextet was one of the most active of U. High's ensembles. During the Christmas season they sang for private groups and participated in the school Christmas Assembly. The girls worked hard in preparation for the State Contest. They sang for various civic groups--both on campus and in the city proper.

SCIENCE CLUB

Science Club membership greatly increased this year and, with the increased membership, came many new interests. The annual Science Fair was the focal point of their activities and they worked to enter many interesting and worthwhile projects.

DEBATE

The art of arguing purposefully is not easily acquired, and members of the Debate Club must be able to debate on a variety of subjects from politics to social and economic problems. Jim Backes, advisor, coached the teams toward their goal, the State Speech Contest which was held in the spring. Members of the club work in teams or individually to achieve a judge's decision in their favor which means that they have presented their material well and won the debate.

Ra-Com is the electronics club of U. High. Its members provided recorded music over the Public Address System during the noon hour and also at dances. Some of the Ra-Com members were in charge of the sound effects for the school play, and this year, they began taping a play by play account of all of the home basketball games.

Members of the Swim Club met weekly to learn the techniques of water ballet. With the help of Miss Russell they soon learned the difficult swimming strokes that go into a water ballet routine.

The Arts and Crafts Club made the facilities of the art department available after school on Tuesdays and Thursdays for students who enjoy art work. They, with the art classes, furnished the pictures and projects which were placed in the first floor and the office display cases. The 1960-61 president was Ellen Bricker, and the club was aided in its projects by Mr. Moldroski.

MASQUERS

Masquers is made up of people who enjoy reading and studying plays and the theatre. They do much of the backstage work and also act many of the parts in the All-School Play which is given each fall. Club members worked on and presented plays and readings throughout the year in order to gain stage experience and increase their acting ability.

KEY CLUB

Key Club is a group of boys interested in gaining a better knowledge of their civic duties. It is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Carbondale and has become a real part of U-High's extra-curricular activities. To raise money for their many projects, they do everything from selling at movies on campus to giving dances. This year's Key Club dance was a highlight of the spring season, as it was last year when it was given for the first time. To help earn money for a trip to the district meeting in Chicago, the boys sold Christmas trees, while, at the same time, they were collecting toys, books, and useful household articles for needy families in Carbondale. Besides this busy schedule, they still have time to discuss their duties and responsibilities to their community and their country at their regular meetings.

LIBRARY CLUB

The primary objective of University School Library Club is to foster wider and better reading and to stimulate critical discussion of books read by its members. Members of the club have participated in projects during Book Week and National Library Week, and they were host to the open meeting of the LESLA in October.

As the last pictures are taken, the last copy typed onto the page, and the last envelopes sealed and mailed, we, the editors, have time (perhaps for the first time) to look back and reflect upon what we have done. The expense has been great; the hours countless. There were successes and failures, good ideas and bad. Yet, through it all, shines the real purpose and goal of all of our efforts--a goal of learning while we mature both mentally and emotionally. For essentially, it is not only how "well" or how "badly" we have done but what we have gained from our experience. It is to that indefinable thing "learning" that we have submitted our efforts.

We wish to thank everyone who helped in producing the 1961 TOWER. We received invaluable advice from our advisor, Miss Parks, and the generous assistance of Mr. D. V. Neunlist, who took the eleventh and twelfth grade pictures and the activity pictures. To the Delmar Printing Company of Charlotte, North Carolina; to Mr. Eugene Vest, their representative who took pictures of grades seven through ten; to S.I.U.'s Photographic Service; to our many sponsors; and to the students, faculty, administration and office staff of University High, we extend our sincere appreciation.

Fun, study, activities . . . and people. This is our World of Learning.

SENIOR FLASHBACKS

While this year's group of seniors may give the appearance of poise and maturity, the following pictures show that this was not always so. With dirty faces, runny noses, and grubby hands, today's "cultured" seniors once roamed the wild and woolly mud piles with (can you believe it) not a care in the world. Their "real identities" may be found on the last page.
